SUBJECT: Discussion: Groundwater Updates

RECOMMENDED ACTION:

Discussion only

SUMMARY:

The Sustainable Groundwater Management Act (SGMA), enacted in 2014, created California's first statewide framework for managing groundwater. SGMA requires local agencies to form Groundwater Sustainability Agencies (GSAs) in high- and medium-priority basins. GSAs develop and implement Groundwater Sustainability Plans (GSPs) to ensure long-term groundwater reliability and prevent issues like declining water levels and aquifer depletion. SGMA emphasizes local control, allowing cities, counties, and water districts to manage groundwater based on local conditions.

A small portion of Calaveras County lies within the high-priority, critically overdrafted Eastern San Joaquin Basin. To comply with SGMA, Calaveras County and Calaveras County Water District (CCWD) entered a 2017 MOU with Stanislaus County and Rock Creek Water District to form the Eastside San Joaquin GSA. Groundwater pumping in Calaveras County supports domestic, municipal, and agricultural uses.

To strengthen groundwater management, CCWD is pursuing several initiatives. Staff will present the following updates for discussion:

- Eastside San Joaquin GSA Restructuring
- Professional services agreement with Woodard & Curran for an updated groundwater assessment
- Groundwater monitoring well development and access
- Department of Water Resources (DWR) Basin Characterization field surveys in Calaveras County

Below are brief descriptions of these efforts.

Eastside San Joaquin GSA Restructuring

The current MOU framework and governance of the Eastside GSA have proven challenging since the development, submittal, and implementation of the basin's GSP. One of the challenges revolves around coordination and administration of SGMA related efforts in a multi-county GSA. Multi-county GSAs tend to be rare because of the governance challenges and differences in county administration.

To alleviate the challenges of a multi-county GSA, CCWD proposes to initiate the formal process of dissolving the current Eastside GSA MOU and establish two new GSAs aligned with respective county boundaries. The restructuring of the Eastside GSA to form two GSAs at the county line will initiate a series of administrative tasks but will not significantly alter the implementation of the GSP. The effort to execute the administrative steps will take some time and will be documented on the DWR SGMA Portal and within the Eastern San Joaquin Basin's Annual Reports and Periodic Evaluations of the GSP.

Recommended Actions: Establish a Calaveras GSA to oversee SGMA compliance within the Calaveras County portion of the Eastern San Joaquin basin. The governance structure of the Calaveras GSA should be evaluated.

Updated Groundwater Assessment

In June 2013, Dunn Environmental, Inc. prepared a technical memorandum analyzing groundwater characteristics and recharge implications near Lake Camanche and Valley Springs, including a review of prior studies in Calaveras County. Since then, SGMA was enacted and no formal groundwater assessment by CCWD has been conducted. However, CCWD has actively monitored groundwater levels and water quality in the Calaveras County portion of the Eastern San Joaquin Basin. Over the past decade, SGMA implementation and new data from state and regional agencies have improved understanding of groundwater management. With these new data and in compliance with the Eastern San Joaquin Groundwater Authority's (ESJ GWA) revised 2025 GSP, CCWD will conduct a contemporary groundwater assessment to better understand current conditions and inform management decisions moving forward.

CCWD entered into a Professional Services Agreement with Woodard & Curran to execute the groundwater assessment scope of work.

Groundwater Monitoring Sites

In December 2009 and January 2010, the USGS drilled and constructed two multi-well monitoring sites on private property in Calaveras County within the Eastern San Joaquin Subbasin. These wells were monitored semiannually until access became restricted in 2022 and 2024.

CCWD has contacted the landowners to restore access and plans to resume monitoring. CCWD is working with the ESJ GWA to install automated monitoring equipment and integrate the wells into the regional monitoring program.

The ESJ GWA has grant funding to install new monitoring wells in areas with limited data and information. In coordination with the GWA, CCWD identified potential sites that support GSP implementation.

Recommended actions: Continue collaborating with the Groundwater Authority to develop new monitoring sites in Calaveras County and deploy GWA-procured equipment in existing wells.

DWR Basin Characterization Field Surveys

As part of DWR's Bulletin 118 on California groundwater, the Basin Characterization Program is collecting advanced hydrogeologic, geologic, and geophysical data to improve state and regional groundwater models. The program also funds pilot studies and field surveys to help local agencies investigate groundwater conditions more effectively.

CCWD is working with DWR and local landowners to conduct geophysical field surveys in Calaveras County and plans to include two to three properties in DWR's data collection efforts this fall. These surveys will provide valuable data on groundwater resources and recharge potential.

Recommended actions: Continue working with local landowners and DWR to implement geophysical surveys in the Calaveras County portion of the Eastern San Joaquin Basin to better understand recharge potential in the County.

STRATEGIC PLAN INITIATIVES:

PI-02 Responsible management of groundwater resources countywide and evaluating opportunities for conjunctive use.

- a. Continue to participate in groundwater management to protect the District's interests.
- b. Comply with the state-mandated Sustainable Groundwater Management Act (SGMA) for areas overlying the Eastern San Joaquin subbasin.

FINANCIAL CONSIDERATIONS:

None at this time.
